10th Anniversary – National Symposium on Emergency Department
Information Systems – How to Computerize Your ED the Right Way – 2004
December 5-8, 2004 – Hilton Chicago

Send a Hospital-Based Team

Researching, purchasing and implementing an Information System for your hospital requires a multi-disciplinary team approach that includes physicians, nurses, administrators and IS personnel. ● Hospitals that have been most successful in implementing and maintaining effective systems have involved all team members from the beginning. ● When implementing a system, no one individual can handle all the issues to be addressed and challenges to be solved. ● This symposium helps bring everyone together on a level playing field and will foster the team approach.

Benefits to You

All major computer systems on-site, with over 8 hours of dedicated exhibit hall time. ● Discuss your specific ED or hospital IS needs with experienced faculty and major EDIS vendors. ● Share experiences with colleagues who may be considering a system or improving one they already have. ● Gather the information you need to plan for the successful purchase and implementation of a system. ● If you already have a system, learn how to put it to optimal use. ● 10-year track record of quality educational programming. ● Best value — compare our tuition with other national programs.

2004 Topics

Special Workshop: Return on Investment (R.O.I.) ● EDIS: Why You Need It & How to Succeed ● SAEM Consensus Report ● Vendor Panels & Live Charting Demo ● The Use of Clinical Information Systems for Biosurveillance and Situational Awareness ● Experienced User Track ● Getting Started – Your Recipe for Success ● Special Workshop: Practical Data Mining: Analysis and Display of Raw Data to Win and Influence People ● Promises Made & Broken ● Implementing Clinical Decision Support (CDS) in the Emergency Department ● Data-Driven ED Process Improvement ● A Guide to cHealth (communications Health): Basics, Tactics, Strategies and Results ● Transforming Your Emergency Department with Web-based Clinical Reference Tools ● The ED Evolution: Advancing into the Electronic Domain ● Reducing Medical Errors in the Emergency Department: Lessons From the Glass Cockpit

If you're looking to purchase an EDIS – this is the place to begin!

Reimbursement: Trends and Strategies in Emergency Medicine

January 25-27, 2005

Recent changes in the regulatory environment will have a major impact on your reimbursement in the next few years. Learn what is coming and how to position yourself for the future. This conference explores topics such as fee schedule preparation and analysis, benchmarking data and its uses, and the impact of private payer lawsuits on ED reimbursement. Understand how informed negotiations and appeals processes can impact your reimbursement.

Earn up to 15 hours of ACEP Category I CME credit and 15 CEUs from the AAPC.

Optional Session: The Fundamentals of Emergency Department Coding

January 27, 2005

Earn up to 4 hours of ACEP Category I CME credit and 4 CEUs from the AAPC.

Getting Control: Effective Procedure Coding for Emergency Medicine

January 28-29, 2005

This course provides the most recent update on ED coding issues, including recent CPT and ICD code changes. Effective tools for assigning code levels and chart auditing will be reviewed. An expert panel will review the code assignments of actual ED charts and respond to your individual questions on controversial issues.

Earn up to 12 hours of ACEP Category I CME credit and 12 CEUs from the AAPC.

Look what your colleagues have said about these conferences:

- "Highly knowledgeable speakers with excellent presentation and reference materials - well organized and comfortable; focused content and time well-managed; no repetitive material or wasted time."
- "Very practical and useful information for everyday practice."

First Annual Advanced Pediatric Emergency Medicine Assembly

April 10-12, 2005 — Washington, DC

This Is An Important Announcement. And Promise.

INTRODUCING THE MOST ADVANCED PEDIATRIC EMERGENCY MEDICINE CONFERENCE EVER.

Almost two years in the making by a select group of the most distinguished experts in the sub-specialty, the first ACEP Annual Advanced Pediatric Emergency Medicine Assembly is finally ready for prime time.

This totally new ACEP CME conference promises to reach further and deliver more than ever. Superlative faculty. Controversial topics. Advanced updates. Leading edge research. All-told: A truly remarkable learning experience. Guaranteed.

Spread the word. This meeting is not “just another” CME conference. It is something very, very special — for physicians who want to get together with colleagues that share a keen interest in and dedication to pediatric emergency medicine, and want to learn.

Mark your calendar now for April 10-12, 2005, Washington, D.C. For updates, monitor ACEP's Web site www.acep.org. Space is limited so early registration is highly recommended.
